To endeavour to understand and describe the India of today would be the task of a brave man. To describe tomorrow's India would verge on rashness. What is India ? That is a question which has come back again and again to my mind. The early beginnings of our history filled me with wonder. It was the past of a virile and vigorous race with a questioning spirit and an urge for free inquiry, and even in its earliest known period giving evidence of a mature and tolerant civilization. Accepting life and its joys and burdens, it was ever searching for the ultimate and the universal.

- (i) Who is the speaker ?
- (ii) What is the speaker trying to describe ?
- (iii) What does the speaker say about the past India known for ?
- (iv) Pick out the words from the extract which are similar in meaning to the following expressions :
 - To make an effort

2. Answer the following question in about 60 words :

Who was responsible for transforming Bholi from stammering dumb cow into bold and confident girl ? (Bholi)

3. Answer any three of the following questions in about 30 - 40 words each. 2x3=6

- (a) Why did the doctor reach for his pistol ? What did he do with it ? (A Case of Suspicion)
- (b) Which souvenir did Gavaskar like the most ? Why ? (My First Steps)
- (c) What kind of education does the writer think is most useful ? (Father, Dear Father)
- (d) Why did Baldeo have to take up the job of a Khalasi ? (The Tiger in the Tunnel)

4. Read the following extracts carefully and answer the questions that follow :

No time to see when woods we pass

What is this life if full of care

We have no time to stand and stare ?

No time to stand beneath the boughs.

And stare as long as sheep or cows.

(Leisure)

- (a) What does the poet mean by "What is this life if full of care"? 1
- (b) Why does he not stand beneath the boughs ? 2
- (c) What is it that sheep and cows do for which we have no time ? 2

OR

Two roads diverged in a yellow wood,

And sorry I could not travel both

And be one traveller, long I stood

And looked down one as far as I could

To where it bent in the undergrowth;

(The Road not Taken)

- (b) What did the poet see at a distance ? 2
- (c) Which road did the poet select ? 2

5. Read the passage given below and answer the questions that follow :

8

Dogs do not understand the language we talk, only our tone and body language. When you are angry, don't yell, as this causes confusion and agitation. Be stern and firm without raising your voice. And when you want to applaud, a light-hearted 'good boy/girl' works.

Despite popular belief, a lot of dogs do not like being hugged by everyone. Hugging isn't an animal trait, so they don't understand it well. Forced behaviour is undesirable and it leads to either a fearful or aggressive response.

Handling your pets with utmost care is the number one rule of pet parenting. Discourage people from touching your pet until they are comfortable with them. Believe it or not, this causes a lot of stress and even intimidates the pooch at times. Imagine, you're walking on the road and a strange person is staring right in your eyes. Sheer creepiness! Isn't it? Now think about pooch in the same situation, all the time. Staring into a dog's eyes makes them extremely uneasy. We all love taking our pets for a long walk, but this is where we need to pay the most attention. Always make sure your dog is not on a tight leash. By keeping the leash loose, you let your pooch know that everything is fine. Your dog can sense your stress as you try to pull him/her close, and then get more agitated. Keep the leash loose and let them know everything is under control.

A dog with a tight leash is more likely to bark or react aggressively even in the mildest of social situations. You need to work on a pleasant walking pattern with your pooch. Always remember, if you're stressed, they are stressed.

- (a) Do dogs understand our language? How do they understand?
- (b) What forced behaviour is mentioned and how is it misleading?
- (c) Why should one not touch pets?
- (d) Which word in para 4 means
 - (i) harness
 - (ii) anxiety

6. Read the passage given below and answer the questions :

8

Once upon a time, there was a king who had gone to visit neighbouring kingdoms. He was gifted a pair of baby Macaw Parrots by the king of the last kingdom where he was visiting. They were the most beautiful birds he had ever seen. So, upon returning to his kingdom, he called for a bird trainer and asked him to train Macaw parrots.

The king also arranged a place in the palace garden for the parrots. He often looked at them from his palace window. As time passed, one day the trainer came to the palace and informed the king that though one of the parrots was flying majestically high in the sky, the other one was not moving from its branch since the day it had arrived.

Upon hearing this, the king summoned trainers and healers from nearby kingdoms. They all tried their best, but couldn't make the parrot fly! He even asked his courtiers to try to find a way to make the parrot fly but they all failed. The parrot was not moving from his branch at all. Finally, after trying everything, the king thought that maybe he needs someone who may be more familiar with natural habitat. He asked his courtier to get a farmer from the countryside and take him to the parrot to see if he can understand the problem with the parrot.

The next morning, the king was thrilled to see the parrot flying high above the palace gardens. He asked his servant to call that farmer to meet him. The servant quickly went and located the farmer, who came and stood before the king. The king asked him, "How did you make the parrot fly?"

With his hands folded with respect, the farmer said to the king, "It was very easy, your majesty. I simply cut the branch where the bird was sitting."

Moral : We are all gifted with energy to find a success in our life, but fail to gather a courage which is required to reach heights of success and end up clinging to the things that are familiar to us. We need to free ourselves from our comfort zone to explore new opportunities and find a success beyond our capacity.

- (a) Why did the King arrange for a bird trainer ?
- (b) What did the bird trainer report about the bird's flying ?
- (c) Why was the farmer called and what did he do ?
- (d) How does comfort zone stop the success of many comfort lovers ?

7. Read the passage given below and complete the statements that follow :

'Arise, awake, and stop not until the goal is reached' is an inspirational slogan popularized in the 19th Century by Indian monk Swami Vivekananda. Swami Vivekananda is respected as a prominent leader, thinker and a saint of the pre-Independence era. His teachings influenced many, not just in India but all over the world. He was inspired, motivated and guided by ancient scriptures of India (particularly Vedas and Upanishads). He spoke, preached and lectured at different places in India and in different parts of the world especially in the West.

Swami Vivekananda wanted all the Indians to join their hands together in the service of the nation. Though he followed the Hindu tradition for his spiritual growth, he had respect for all the other religions just like his mentor and spiritual Guru Ramakrishna Paramahansa. All the religious traditions lead to the same goal. He found that all the religions in the world teach love and fraternity so that people from different background can come together to serve the society and the nation. Every individual is capable of attaining the highest spiritual status which is the sole purpose of life. He was of the opinion that, "You cannot believe in God until you believe in yourself."

Swami Vivekananda devoted his life working for the poor and helping them throughout his life. He rendered selfless services to Human life, teaching the world about equality of all religions. He advocated for access to education to all, particularly the youth of the country who has the potential to take the nation to new levels of growth and prosperity. He also believed that the dream of a developed nation can only be achieved when the masses are lifted out of poverty. Vivekananda will continue to live with us till eternity through his thoughts and ideas.

- (a) Swami Vivekananda is a (i) _____ of the pre-Independence era and his teachings had (ii) _____ not only in India but throughout the world.
- (b) Swami Vivekananda followed (i) _____ tradition but respected (ii) _____.
- (c) Swami Vivekananda's mentor was (i) _____ and believed that all religions lead to the (ii) _____.
- (d) Swami Vivekananda believed that youth of the country had (i) _____ to take the nation to development. So he advocated (ii) _____ to all.

The Kali River or Kali nadi is a river flowing through Uttara Kannada district of Karnataka state in India. The river rises near Diggi, a small village in Uttara Kannada district. The river is the lifeline to some 4 lakh people in the Uttara Kannada district and supports the livelihood of tens of thousands of people including fishermen on the coast of Karwar. There are many dams built across this river for the generation of electricity. One of the important dams built across Kali river is the Supa Dam at Ganeshgudi. The river runs 184 kilometres before joining the Arabian Sea.

Significant and picturesque, the Sadashivgad fort is now a popular tourist destination located by the coastal highway Kali river bridge, which has been built above the confluence of the river and the Arabian Sea.

The National Highway NH-17 continues on the Kali Bridge built over Kali River and the road continues to split the Sadashivgad granite rock hill to connect Karnataka to Goa.

In Aug. 2019 due to excessive rains in the region it caused flooding and loss of property and animal life due to the floods which took place when a huge amount of water was discharged on the downstream area. Many people lost their houses and moved to rehabilitation services provided by the government.

15. Read the following passage carefully. Make notes in points only using appropriate headings and subheadings. Please use recognizable abbreviations. 4

A cartoon is a type of illustration, sometimes animated, typically in a non-realistic or semi-realistic style. The specific meaning has evolved over time, but the modern usage usually refers to either an image or series of images intended for satire, caricature, or humor ; or a motion picture that relies on a sequence of illustrations for its animation. Someone who creates cartoons in the first sense is called a cartoonist, and in the second sense they are usually called an animator.

The concept originated in the Middle Ages, and first described a preparatory drawing for a piece of art, such as a painting, fresco, tapestry, or stained glass window. In the 19th century, beginning in Punch magazine in 1843, cartoon came to refer - ironically at first - to humorous illustrations in magazines and newspapers. In the early 20th century, it began to refer to animated films which resembled print cartoons.

In print media, a cartoon is an illustration or series of illustrations, usually humorous in intent. This usage dates from 1843, when Punch magazine applied the term to satirical drawings in its pages, particularly sketches by John Leech. The first of these parodied the preparatory cartoons for grand historical frescoes in the then-new Palace of Westminster. The original title for these drawings was Mr. Punch's face is the letter Q and the new title "cartoon" was intended to be ironic, a reference to the self-aggrandizing posturing of Westminster politicians.

Dogs do not understand the language we talk, only our tone and body language. When you are angry, don't yell, as this causes confusion and agitation. Be stern and firm without raising your voice. And when you want to applaud, a light-hearted 'good boy/girl' works.

Despite popular belief, a lot of dogs do not like being hugged by everyone. Hugging isn't an animal trait, so they don't understand it well. Forced behaviour is undesirable and it leads to either a fearful or aggressive response.

Handling your pets with utmost care is the number one rule of pet parenting. Discourage people from touching your pet until they are comfortable with them. Believe it or not, this causes a lot of stress and even intimidates the pooch at times. Imagine, you're walking on the road and a strange person is staring right in your eyes. Sheer creepiness! Isn't it? Now think about pooch in the same situation, all the time. Staring into a dog's eyes makes them extremely uneasy. We all love taking our pets for a long walk, but this is where we need to pay the most attention. Always make sure your dog is not on a tight leash. By keeping the leash loose, you let your pooch know that everything is fine. Your dog can sense your stress as you try to pull him/her close, and then get more agitated. Keep the leash loose and let them know everything is under control.

A dog with a tight leash is more likely to bark or react aggressively even in the mildest of social situations. You need to work on a pleasant walking pattern with your pooch. Always remember, if you're stressed, they are stressed.

- (a) Do dogs understand our language? How do they understand?
- (b) What forced behaviour is mentioned and how is it misleading?
- (c) Why should one not touch pets?
- (d) Which word in para 4 means
 - (i) harness
 - (ii) anxiety

15. Read the passage given below and complete the statements that follow :

'Arise, awake, and stop not until the goal is reached' is an inspirational slogan popularized in the 19th Century by Indian monk Swami Vivekananda. Swami Vivekananda is respected as a prominent leader, thinker and a saint of the pre-Independence era. His teachings influenced many, not just in India but all over the world. He was inspired, motivated and guided by ancient scriptures of India (particularly Vedas and Upanishads). He spoke, preached and lectured at different places in India and in different parts of the world especially in the West.

Swami Vivekananda wanted all the Indians to join their hands together in the service of the nation. Though he followed the Hindu tradition for his spiritual growth, he had respect for all the other religions just like his mentor and spiritual Guru Ramakrishna Paramahansa. All the religious traditions lead to the same goal. He found that all the religions in the world teach love and fraternity so that people from different background can come together to serve the society and the nation. Every individual is capable of attaining the highest spiritual status which is the sole purpose of life. He was of the opinion that, "You cannot believe in God until you believe in yourself."

Swami Vivekananda devoted his life working for the poor and helping them throughout his life. He rendered selfless services to Human life, teaching the world about equality of all religions. He advocated for access to education to all, particularly the youth of the country who has the potential to take the nation to new levels of growth and prosperity. He also believed that the dream of a developed nation can only be achieved when the masses are lifted out of poverty. Vivekananda will continue to live with us till eternity through his thoughts and ideas.

- (a) Swami Vivekananda is a (i) _____ of the pre-Independence era and his teachings had (ii) _____ not only in India but throughout the world.
- (b) Swami Vivekananda followed (i) _____ tradition but respected (ii) _____.
- (c) Swami Vivekananda's mentor was (i) _____ and believed that all religions lead to the (ii) _____.
- (d) Swami Vivekananda believed that youth of the country had (i) _____ to take the nation to development. So he advocated (ii) _____ to all.

16. Read the following passage carefully. Make notes in points only using appropriate headings and subheadings. Please use recognizable abbreviations. 4

A cartoon is a type of illustration, sometimes animated, typically in a non-realistic or semi-realistic style. The specific meaning has evolved over time, but the modern usage usually refers to either an image or series of images intended for satire, caricature, or humor ; or a motion picture that relies on a sequence of illustrations for its animation. Someone who creates cartoons in the first sense is called a cartoonist, and in the second sense they are usually called an animator.

The concept originated in the Middle Ages, and first described a preparatory drawing for a piece of art, such as a painting, fresco, tapestry, or stained glass window. In the 19th century, beginning in Punch magazine in 1843, cartoon came to refer - ironically at first - to humorous illustrations in magazines and newspapers. In the early 20th century, it began to refer to animated films which resembled print cartoons.

In print media, a cartoon is an illustration or series of illustrations, usually humorous in intent. This usage dates from 1843, when Punch magazine applied the term to satirical drawings in its pages, particularly sketches by John Leech. The first of these parodied the preparatory cartoons for grand historical frescoes in the then-new Palace of Westminster. The original title for these drawings was Mr. Punch's face is the letter Q and the new title "cartoon" was intended to be ironic, a reference to the self-aggrandizing posturing of Westminster politicians.

To endeavour to understand and describe the India of today would be the task of a brave man. To describe tomorrow's India would verge on rashness. What is India ? That is a question which has come back again and again to my mind. The early beginnings of our history filled me with wonder. It was the past of a virile and vigorous race with a questioning spirit and an urge for free inquiry, and even in its earliest known period giving evidence of a mature and tolerant civilization. Accepting life and its joys and burdens, it was ever searching for the ultimate and the universal.

Once upon a time, there was a king who had gone to visit neighbouring kingdoms. He was gifted a pair of baby Macaw Parrots by the king of the last kingdom where he was visiting. They were the most beautiful birds he had ever seen. So, upon returning to his kingdom, he called for a bird trainer and asked him to train Macaw parrots.

The king also arranged a place in the palace garden for the parrots. He often looked at them from his palace window. As time passed, one day the trainer came to the palace and informed the king that though one of the parrots was flying majestically high in the sky, the other one was not moving from its branch since the day it had arrived.

Upon hearing this, the king summoned trainers and healers from nearby kingdoms. They all tried their best, but couldn't make the parrot fly! He even asked his courtiers to try to find a way to make the parrot fly but they all failed. The parrot was not moving from his branch at all. Finally, after trying everything, the king thought that maybe he needs someone who may be more familiar with natural habitat. He asked his courtier to get a farmer from the countryside and take him to the parrot to see if he can understand the problem with the parrot.

The next morning, the king was thrilled to see the parrot flying high above the palace gardens. He asked his servant to call that farmer to meet him. The servant quickly went and located the farmer, who came and stood before the king. The king asked him, "How did you make the parrot fly?"

With his hands folded with respect, the farmer said to the king, "It was very easy, your majesty. I simply cut the branch where the bird was sitting."

Moral : We are all gifted with energy to find a success in our life, but fail to gather a courage which is required to reach heights of success and end up clinging to the things that are familiar to us. We need to free ourselves from our comfort zone to explore new opportunities and find a success beyond our capacity.

- (a) Why did the King arrange for a bird trainer ?
- (b) What did the bird trainer report about the bird's flying ?
- (c) Why was the farmer called and what did he do ?
- (d) How does comfort zone stop the success of many comfort lovers ?
